

CORMAC O'REILLY

35+ year career in world-class companies, in roles ranging from running large information technology organizations and projects, to doing acquisitions/divestments, strategic planning and restructuring. In that time having line/functional responsibilities in 30+ countries, working as an engineer, consultant and a member of Management & Company Boards

($300m+ revenue) - Global Head; Technology Transformation Practice

Established and ran the global technology practice for an fast growing, $200m operational consulting company. Worked with senior client management agreeing and undertaking projects in Europe Canada and the USA, establishing and integrating consulting teams in Europe and the USA.

($5B+ revenue) - Chief Information/Chief Technology Officer

Member of a management team that transformed the bankrupt Wang office automation company into a global computer service company that we ultimately sold to Getronics, in the Netherlands. Repositioned internal IT as a customer showcase; worked the Olivetti acquisition that more that doubled the company size and customer foot print, and worked closely with Dell, Microsoft and Cisco; all Wang Global's critical partners.

Chief Information Officer of Digital's $10B Service Business

Reduced annual IT costs from $212m to $167m. Led the companies adoption of Windows 95 and MS Exchange. Planned, negotiated and positioned the five year $350m outsourcing contract with EDS. Built an new partnering outsourcing model with Accenture.

Engineering & Construction (£2.5m revenue) - Board Director

Reporting to the Chairman, restructured IT into a powerful capability across Costain's operating divisions (Civil Engineer, Process Control and Building) while reducing its cost by 50%. In promoting this capability, became a leading UK construction industry IT spokesman and won the prestigious BCS/Mann IT award for the company. Additionally played an important role in redefining and entering into the emerging DBFO (Design, Build, Finance & Operate) business.

Shell Corporate - Building Shell's Electronic Communication Infrastructure

Initially on a Shell's Committee of Managing Directors Task Force to design, build and justify a group-wide communications that: (i) allowed European customer deliver improved logistics, (ii) securely internationalized and interconnected Shell's Operating Company computer networks and email systems and: (iii) replaced Shells, telex based global management communication system. Worked with European Operating company management teams to develop plans, obtain buy-in, get funding - implemented the first phase.

CORMAC O'REILLY

Schlumberger - Smart Card Business Development

Developed the strategy, marketing plan, underpinning commercial relationships and operating model for Schlumberger's Smart Card network security business.

Corporate Consulting Group - Ran Schlumberger's corporate consulting office out of Houston, Texas. Recruited high potential finance, marketing and general management candidates from the leading US/European business schools. Oversaw strategy, business, operation, finance and technology reviews across Schlumberger's international businesses, which at that time included Fairchild Semiconductor, Oilfield Services, Measurement and Control.

Chief Information Officer - Decentralized Dowell Schlumberger's IT from a London computer center to five geographic regions and 19 country based computer centers. This as part of a major company decentralization of its financial function, that proved to provided essential in managing the down-turn in the oil industry.

British Oxygen (Acquired by the Linde Group)

Initially joined BOC's corporate Central Services Group, developing common systems & technologies. Latterly accepted a "second" job as the Central Services Division's strategic planning manager, working for the then Chief Executive (Brian Mills). Did both jobs for three years, then became the Medical Division's CIO & Planning Manager supporting the fast growing medical division automate. Then ran the Group Technology,

Early Technical, Design and Implementation Roles

CSC - Computer Service & Consulting

Client Service - Management Information services development

Unilever - Food Distribution & Management Information

Systems Design, Programming & Analysis for operating Divisions

Abbey National

Systems Development - Share, Deposit & Mortgage Processing

Undergraduate - BSc Data Processing (USEB). Post Graduate - Chartridge Management College; Industrial Fellow at Kingston University. Active participant in both the Diebold & Butler Cox research foundations. Fellow of The British Computer Society; Freeman of The City of London and Member of the Worshipful Company of Information Technologists.
